Badin inducts 25 into NHS chapter

Badin High School inducted 25 students into its National Honor Society chapter during an annual evening “tapping” ceremony on Wednesday, Nov. 18, in Badin’s Little Theatre.

“We’re very proud of the students who are admitted into the National Honor Society,” said BHS Principal Frank Margello. “They have excelled both in and out of the classroom and have highlighted the right priorities during their careers at Badin.”

National Honor Society recognizes students who excel in academics, character, service and leadership. Wednesday’s event added 15 seniors and 10 juniors to Badin’s NHS chapter. That brings the current National Honor Society membership at Badin to 42 students, with 17 members of the Class of 2010 being inducted last year.

Newly inducted seniors included Jessica Argentati, Nicole Baden, Rachel Bernardo, Leanue Bolo, Anna Bowling, Drew Cifuentes, Ashley Davis, Lindsay Fischer, Samantha Gonya, Joe Kulifay, Chris Peters, Morgan Retherford, Chelsea Schindler, Ryan Snodgrass and Jake Woodward.

Newly inducted juniors included Mary Bange, Devon Bokeno, Linh Dinh, Raymond Dong, Ann Fisher, Erin Fontaine, Tyler Hammerle, Nick Ingram, Carrie Lunsford and Rosemary Mignery.

Kelly Currier and Katrina Dudley are co-presidents of Badin’s National Honor Society chapter for 2009-10. Christyn Bigler serves as vice president, Brittany Bishop is the secretary and Lauren Savage is the treasurer. Mr. Mark Merz and Mrs. Jean Palmer are Badin’s NHS faculty moderators.
