Leaving a lasting gift is about the future-- how you can change it, mold it, inspire it by Leaving a Legacy.

Anyone--yes, even you, can leave a legacy. Even the smallest bequest can and does make a huge difference to any charitable organization.

Leaving a lasting gift is about you and your decision to remain in control of your wealth and assets. It's about setting a priceless example for those who will follow you. It is about bringing family together, exploring values, ideals and life experiences you treasure most, and considering your legacy. Perhaps you had an experience in high school that provided you with the skills that helped make you successful. Maybe the coaches you played for, or the teachers who taught you played an important role in your life. The list could go on but what is most important for you to recognize is that through a gift in your will or estate plans, you can continue to help Badin make a critical difference in the quality of Catholic education for generations to come.
